What makes our training more relevant?

Underpinning all CSDS learning experiences is the belief that maximum learning arises from:

- the participant's knowledge, skills and experiences from their real-world life
- small number of participants fosters a more intimate, inclusive learning experience
- training sessions are linked to, and can be articulated in the RPL process within accredited training modules where possible
- each participant receives a Statement of Attendance listing the relevant learning outcomes to accredited training modules

Early bird rate closes the Friday 3 weeks prior to each training date

As much as possible all CSDS training sessions can be used in the RPL process towards an identified unit of competence

Any training session can be delivered in your agency or community level, subject to negotiation with CSDS
